

SALTO to showcase industry leading solutions, new smart access technology & more at ISC West 2022

Norcross, GA (March, 2022) SALTO Systems, a leading manufacturer of electronic access control and operating system solutions designed to provide a seamless keyless and mobile experience for modern buildings and facilities, will present the latest in smart access solutions at ISC West.

“It often feels like life is moving faster than ever. ISC West presents a great opportunity to connect Human to Human without a camera and screen and to share information about not just products, functionality, and partnerships but to catch up as families and friends alike,” said SALTO Systems, Bill Wood, President for North America. “We hope you will stop to connect with us during ISC West and share a story or insight. We’re excited to be able to listen and share as we strive to serve you better.”

As a technology-driven, electronic locking technologies specialist, SALTO is redefining access control with the industry’s most advanced and flexible locking solutions available today. Visitors at ISC West will discover SALTO’s latest hardware and software access control products, smart locker systems, and management solutions capable of meeting the needs of any type of building and infrastructure—regardless of the industry, size, type of door, or number of users.

ISC West is the largest converged security industry trade show in North America. The event will be held March 23-25, 2022, at the Venetian Expo in Las Vegas. Highlights at SALTO Systems Booth 4083 will include:
