KWIKSET TO SHOWCASE NEW HOME CONNECT 620
SMART LOCK AT ISC WEST

Home Automation-Ready Smart Lock Features Latest Z-Wave 700 Chip Technology, SmartStart and S2 Secure Enrollment; Ideal as Entry-Level Smart Lock

LAKE FOREST, CA (July 12, 2021) – Kwikset® brand of Spectrum Brands, Inc. – Hardware & Home Improvement Division, the leader in residential security, will showcase the Home Connect 620, the company’s newest Z-Wave connected smart lock, at ISC West 2021. The show is scheduled to take place in Las Vegas, July 19-21.

The Home Connect 620, Kwikset’s first smart lock in the “Home Connect” line, features: a 10-button keypad with one-touch locking; and the latest Z-Wave 700 chip technology, which includes the convenience of Z-Wave SmartStart and the security of the S2 framework.

Featuring a sleek, all-metal design and a choice of traditional or contemporary styling, the Home Connect 620 connected smart lock is designed to integrate with a variety of smart home systems and serves as an ideal “entry-level” smart lock. The Home Connect 620 delivers convenience and peace of mind to homeowners with complete remote locking/unlocking via smartphones and tablets, as well as total home control.

An important feature of the Home Connect connected smart lock is the incorporation of the new Z-Wave™ 700 Series chip. The new chip provides a number of enhancements, including extended wireless range and wireless security features that reduce the vulnerability of the network during enrollment, as well as increased battery life.

With Z-Wave SmartStart, users can enroll devices by scanning a QR code even before beginning installation, providing an easier and faster way to gain instant interoperability and control of the Home Connect 620. The S2 framework adds an additional layer of AES 128-bit encryption of wireless signals for increased device security.

The Home Connect 620 can hold up to 250 user access codes and receive notifications from anywhere there is an internet connection through a home automation system. Homeowners can quickly send personalized access codes to family and guests. The Mastercode feature of the Home Connect 620 protects commands and settings to prevent lock tampering and can be managed wirelessly for additional security and lock management.

“We’re looking forward to introducing our newest connected lock in person at ISC West,” said Matt Zimmer, Vice-President Marketing – Spectrum Brands HHI Security Hardware. “We believe dealers will be excited because it gives homeowners the opportunity to experience the comfort, convenience and safety of electronic security and total home control at a very cost-effective price point.”

The Home Connect 620, which will carry an MSRP of $149, will be available in the 4th quarter of 2021.

Kwikset will also be showing a number of other connected and standalone residential lock products at the event.
